

Motorhome Lodgings in South Carolina

Contributed by Adrien White
Friday, 10 August 2007

A classic Southern state, South Carolina is the home of history. Motorhome Lodgings in South Carolina run the full range, so here are some of the best.

The next time you are thinking of taking a trip to the Southern states, why not choose South Carolina? This warm and sunny coastal state offers a myriad of different attractions for families and other visitors, from beaches on the Atlantic Ocean to historic spots from the Civil War like Fort Sumter. Myrtle Beach provides families with the perfect American beach vacation, and if you prefer something a bit more adventurous, alligator hunting in Congaree Swamp is an option as well! In every part of the state, you will be sure to find Motorhome Lodgings in South Carolina to meet your vacation needs.

Located in the Northeast quadrant of South Carolina, Myrtle Beach is the perfect family destination. The sunny, sandy beaches here are warm most of the year, making this spot ideal for vacations taking place in the spring through fall months. Myrtle Beach is not just a place to hang out on the sand, however &ndash; there are also many other amusements and attractions in the area to keep your whole family occupied. Ripley's Aquarium is a great side trip for those interested in the sea, and Dolly Parton's Dixie Stampede is a dinner show that gets rave reviews from kids and adults alike.

There are many Motorhome Lodgings in South Carolina to choose from for your Myrtle Beach vacation. One of these is the Apache Oceanfront Pier and Family Campground, located in the town of Myrtle Beach. This 937 site park offers many different levels of service, so you can choose just the amount of amenities you need for your stay. There are 250 sites that are back-in full hookups, which include water, electric and sewer, and 250 more of the same that are pull-through sites. A final group of sites are full premium hookups, including cable TV as well as the other amenities.

Apache Oceanfront Pier and Family Campground also has many other amenities and useful items on site. A store is available for those last minute food and camping needs, and a diner/snack bar is open for those times you'd like to have a bite to eat out. Propane is also available on site, as is a laundry center and clean restrooms and showers. Some of the sites at the campground are ocean front, meaning you can wake up each morning to the lapping waves of the Atlantic, and fishing is also allowed on site. A game room as well as outdoor games and amusements are a perfect way to keep the kids occupied.

Staying ocean side is a great way to enjoy the beauty of the beach and water in the southern United States. The many Motorhome Lodgings in South Carolina make it easy to find a location that suites your whole family's needs.

About the Author

Find more information on RV campgrounds at RVRentalsforyou.com.