

Myrtle Beach Golf Resorts

Contributed by Elizabeth Morgan
Sunday, 12 August 2007

Myrtle Beach, South Carolina is miles and miles of sparkling white beaches along the turquoise coast of the Atlantic Ocean which is a playing field of amusement, excitement and relaxation. Myrtle Beach is visited by close to 14 million people each year and has earned itself the designation of the No.1 Family Beach in America.

Myrtle Beach has also earned the title of one of the best golf resorts in America. Nestled among pines and oaks the golf courses here are a visual treat for golfers and non-golfers equally. Myrtle Beach has golf courses which cater to diverse skill levels and whatever the handicap, you are sure to find a course ideal for you.

The golf resorts are on par with the best in the world and you will find that they have well stocked Pro Shops, driving ranges and practice chipping and putting areas, well appointed bars, snack bars and loads of other facilities.

With over 100 golf courses, golf schools and golf package companies finding the perfect golf vacation package should be as easy as pie. And when you're done with golf for the day, Myrtle Beach has no dearth of activities to immerse you in.

If shopping relaxes you then there are several area malls, factory outlets and specialty stores and if you're looking for something particular you are certain to find it one of the many shops around town. Amusement parks, water parks and other Myrtle Beach amusement venues are sure to keep the fun meter on all time high.

Myrtle Beach nights come alive with sun-down and you can let your hair down at some of the hottest nightclubs, piano bars, dancing clubs and sports bars along the coast.

All that golfing, shopping and partying is sure to whip up a huge appetite which can be satiated at four and five star restaurants, theme dining joints or local hot spots.

If it is golf that brings you here or just a holiday by the sea, Myrtle Beach offers you fantastic opportunities for an unforgettable vacation.

About the Author

Golf Resorts provides detailed information on Golf Resorts, Florida Golf Resorts, Arizona Golf Resorts, Caribbean Golf Resorts and more. Golf Resorts is affiliated with Online Golf Games.